On 18th January 1881 the Brig 'Visitor' ran aground in Robin Hood's Bay. No local boat could be launched due to the violence of the storm so the Whitby lifeboat was brought 6 miles overland through 7 foot snow drifts on a road rising to 500 ft, with over 200 men clearing the way and 18 horses pulling the tow lines. The lifeboat was launched at the second attempt two hours after leaving Whitby and the crew of the 'Visitor' were saved.
